

SENATE COMMITTEE BALKS NEW TAX PROBLEM

DIXON READY FOR LEGION'S BIG MEETING

District Convention to Draw Thousands to City Next Week

Dixon will entertain the Thirtieth district American Legion annual convention on Friday and Saturday of next week, and it is expected that several thousand visitors will be in the city on the two days. The convention committee has completed all plans for the gathering, which is looked forward to being a record breaker for the northwest Illinois district, new attractions are being added to the program daily.

The convention formally opens Friday and will be ushered in with bands of every kind and description, including several well known clown and German bands from posts throughout the state. These organizations will participate in a contest to be held Friday evening. The streets of the city will be specially decorated for the occasion. There are also a number of "jug" bands listed to provide entertainment and amusement for the two days.

Beauty Contest
Friday evening will be featured with the beauty contest which will select the queen of the 13th district, and entries are being received daily from throughout the northwest counties of the state. Several Dixon young ladies have already entered the competition. A grand prize will be awarded the winner together with the four runners-up who will serve in the court of the queen, who will be officially crowned Saturday afternoon and occupy a position as guest of honor in the parade.

The two block parking space between Galena and Peoria avenues on River street will be converted into a midway with many amusements, rides and concessions. Saturday will be the outstanding day of the convention. There will be business sessions of the convention during the forenoon to be followed by an open meeting at which nationally prominent speakers will address the gathering. At 3:30 the parade will get under way with more than 25 drum and bugle corps and ten bands appearing in the line. This will provide an exceptional treat in both music and military marching. The massed colors of all of the posts in the district will be a glorious sight as they head the procession. Hundreds of Legionnaires will be in the parade through the business section of the city. Several chapters of the Forty and Eight organization will also be represented with floats.

Drill Teams Contest
At the conclusion of the parade, the marchers will go direct to the high school athletic field where the drill teams will contest for prizes and where Miss Thirteenth District will be crowned.

Another feature of the Saturday program will be the gigantic display of fireworks. The display will be fired from the north bank of the river and will be viewed from the south side. This display will be one of the finest ever shown in Dixon vicinity and this feature alone is expected to attract thousands of visitors. In addition to the customary aerial display there will be a long block of set pieces.

Both the city and the local Legion will be represented with floats.

Oklahoma Coed Sentenced to Thirty Days in Jail for Shooting Chinese Classmate; Extortion Notes Mystery

Tablequah, Okla., June 20.—(AP)—Thirty days in jail is the penalty imposed upon Miss Lois Thompson, a co-ed, for shooting Daniel Shaw, a Chinese classmate, but the conviction failed to solve the extortion note angle which the defendant blamed for her act.

The 19-year-old part Indian student of the Northeastern Oklahoma Teachers College did not betray her wanted status when the jury's verdict was read last night, but she began to sob as members of her family gathered to console her. The jury had set the penalty

Picked Wrong Man

Granite City, Ill., June 20.—(AP)—A bandit who made the mistake of picking on a quick-shooting Arkansas farmer for his would-be victim lay in a hospital here near death today because of the error.

The wounded man, Roy Carmach, 27, St. Louis, and a companion approached a stalled truck near Mitchell, Ill., driven by H. D. Chastain and William Standley, Centeron, Ark. The two were conveying an $1800 load of chickens to Chicago. They had run out of gasoline when the bandits appeared.

At the command "stick 'em up," Chastain snatched up a revolver lying in his lap and shot Carmach through the chest. He also fired several shots at the other bandit, who escaped.

YOUNG SENATOR CHALLENGED AS HE ASKED OATH

Republicans Blocked Holt, 30 Years Old, Taking His Seat

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Senator-elect Holt (D-W. Va.) offered himself for the oath of office in the senate today and was immediately challenged by Senator McNary, Republican leader, on the ground he was not 30 years old when elected.

McNary asked that Holt stand aside until the contest over his seating was disposed of.

Chairman George offered the report of the elections committee recommending that Holt be seated.

Senator Hastings (R-Del.) countered with a motion that Holt's election be declared void, "he not having attained the age of 30 years at the commencement of the term for which he was elected."

He was 30 yesterday.

MAY MAKE DIXON CONVENTION CITY

Teachers to Vote on Permanent Annual Meetings in Dixon Theater

Teachers of the Rock River district of the Illinois State Teachers' Association will vote on making Dixon the permanent convention city for all institutes to be held in the future, and the subject will be presented at the annual meeting Oct. 18 at the Dixon theater. The Rock River division was formed at a meeting here several years ago and since that time meetings have been held in the four counties composing the division, Lee, Ogle, DeKalb and Whiteside. The central location and system of paved highways centering in Dixon has favored Dixon in being selected for the meetings each year.

Co. Superintendent of Schools L. W. Miller announced today having secured James H. Richmond of Frankfort, Ky., state superintendent of public instruction of Kentucky, as one of the lecturers at both the county and division meetings here next fall. Prof. Richmond addressed the meeting of the state organization of county superintendents at Springfield last December and immediately County Superintendent Miller issued the invitation for the Rock River division and the Lee county institute meetings in October. Acceptance of the invitation to appear at both sessions was received by Superintendent Miller this morning.

Superintendent Miller stated this morning that Col. Frank D. Whipp, warden of the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet, would also be invited to address the Rock River division meeting. The county institute, which will be held Oct. 17, will be attended by approximately 350 teachers, while the division meeting will bring about 1,500 teachers from the four member counties, as well as from other counties, to Dixon for the day, making a total of about 2,000 teachers and instructors visiting Dixon during the two days. All sessions are to be held in the Dixon theater and the public will be invited. Special musical features are also being arranged by Superintendent Miller for both meetings.

ALCOHOLISM IS CALLED CAUSE WOMAN'S DEATH

Chicago Matron Found Dead in Gold Coast Apartment Today

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—The death of Mrs. Polly Tipton Dunn, 35-year-old Chicago matron who was found dead in her bathroom today in a Gold Coast apartment, was attributed to "heart disease superinduced by alcoholism" in the death certificate signed by Dr. John E. Boland, her personal physician, after authorities had been satisfied her death was natural.

Her body was found by her husband, Harold P. Dunn, president of the Harry P. Dunn Petroleum Company, when he awakened this morning.

Dunn told Capt. Patrick B. O'Connell of the Town Hall police that when he arrived at 9 o'clock last night his wife had had a few drinks and that he joined her in several more, after which he went to bed. He said he discovered her body when he awoke. He summoned the maid, Georgia Love, who called the police.

Mrs. Dunn's body was clad in night clothes, Capt. O'Connell said. The police officer said his station was notified of the death by an unidentified man who telephoned to say "come over and see what's wrong in this apartment."

The Dunn had been married 13 years. They have one son, Harry, Jr., 3, now in boys' school. Mrs. Dunn's home before her marriage, police were told, was in Kansas City.

Hauptman's Appeal from Death Verdict is Argued Before High Court Today

Fourteen New Jersey Judges Hear Arguments of Lawyers

Trenton, N. J., June 20.—(AP)—Argument on the appeal of Bruno Richard Hauptmann from his conviction of the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was completed before the Court of Errors and Appeals today and the usual announcement of "decision reserved" was made.

The 14 members of the court will study the evidence and arguments during the summer and their decision will be given sometime this fall.

Trenton, N. J., June 20.—(AP)—Attorneys for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, condemned to die for the murder of Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., argued to New Jersey's high court today that he was unfairly tried.

The pleas were heard by 14 judges—five of them lay members of the bench—of the Court of Errors and Appeals behind locked doors which kept a limited number of spectators imprisoned in their seats. Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, wife of the condemned appellant, was denied admittance and so was Hauptmann's spiritual advisor, the Rev. D. G. Werner.

The oral argument of Hauptmann's lawyers was limited to three hours. The state was given an hour and a half to reply.

Hauptmann's brief, submitted before the arguments, charged the state wrongfully used varying theories as to how the Lindbergh baby met its death, called the trial summation of Attorney General David T. Wilentz "inflammatory," charged he "bulldozed" the defendant, and contended the trial should have been conducted not in Hunterdon county, but in Mercer county, where the baby's body was found.

The answering brief of the state said the evidence "proved conclusively" that Hauptmann was guilty of the murder, dismissed lightly the import of the varying theories as to the cause of death, called Hauptmann's interpretation of the Attorney General's summation "unwarranted."

Point by Point
The state brief replied point by point to the 17 issues raised in the defense brief. It defended the Attorney General's characterizations of Hauptmann as a "cold blooded murderer" and "public enemy No. 1 of this world" as proper comments on the "character of a man who would commit such a crime." The summation it held, was "eminent, proper and a 'temperate and moderate statement of the facts.'"

Making a sweeping denial of defense charges of errors in the trial, the state declared the verdict of the Flemington jury "was consistent with the evidence produced."

The following marriage licenses were issued yesterday afternoon by County Clerk Sterling D. Schrock: Orval E. Poisel and Miss Audrey L. Leitch, both of Dixon; Jack B. Hayden and Miss Adella Mae Moore, both of Dixon.

SISTER IS CALLED
Mrs. Marion Maben received a telegram from Florence, Colo., announcing the death of her sister, Mrs. Margaret Wilson, who passed away after a lingering illness. Her son Hugh Wilson has been caring for his mother in her home.

CUMMINGS DEPT. TO INVESTIGATE

Will Look Into Charges of Ousted Asst. Sec. of Commerce Soon

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Attorney General Cummings today said the Justice Department will make a "full investigation" of charges of "inefficiency," "graft" and "favoritism" in departmental bureaus made by Ewing Y. Mitchell, ousted Assistant Secretary of Commerce, regardless of the outcome of an investigation by the senate commerce committee.

This announcement came shortly after Mitchell had ended his second day of testimony before the committee with assertions that proper efficiency in the air commerce bureau and steamboat inspection service of the commerce department might have prevented the recent airplane crash in which Senator Cutting of New Mexico was killed and the burning of the liner Morro Castle with a large loss of life.

No Actual Facts
He acknowledged under questioning by committee members, however, that he had no actual facts to support his charges.

The Attorney General said the department's investigation was being handled by Joseph B. Keenan, assistant Attorney general in charge of the criminal division, who was present at the committee inquiry yesterday. Mitchell, he said, would be given opportunity to "amplify his charges at any time."

Cummings asserted the Mitchell charges first were referred to him by Secretary Roper on April 22, and that Roper, the commerce department head, supplied him with Mitchell's material on May 13 or 14.

"We have not gone far enough to determine what course should be pursued," the attorney general said. "The investigation will not be limited to reading what Mr. Mitchell has to say, but an attempt will be made to get all the facts."

"We will find out whether there has been any dereliction of duty or merely an administrative matter that can be settled without the aid of the department of justice."

Two Soviet Aeronauts Claim Altitude Record

Moscow, June 20.—(AP)—Two Soviet airmen today claimed a world altitude record for open gondola balloons, asserting they had reached a height of 10,500 meters (34,447.5 feet) in a balloon of 2,200 cubic meters capacity.

A balloon of the capacity indicated ranks in the fifth category, for which no international altitude record is listed. The record for the sixth category—balloons of 2,201-3,000 cubic meters—is officially recognized as held by Capt. Hawthorn C. Graff, United States Army, Mar. 9, 1929, Belleville, Ill., 28,508.412 feet.

The balloonists were K. I. Zille and U. G. Prilutsky. They said that above 8,000 meters, after rising in absolute quiet, they heard an unexplainable noise like the passing of a train. They used oxygen.

DECATUR BANKER DEAD.

Sweeping Proposal

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Confronted by stiff opposition, President Roosevelt indicates he will broaden his attack on public utility holding companies and make it a drive against such companies in all industries.

In his special message to Congress proposing inheritance taxes and increased income levies in the higher brackets, he said:

"Ultimately, we should seek through taxation the simplification of our corporate structure through the elimination of unnecessary holding companies in all lines of business."

This sweeping proposal was made only a few hours after a House subcommittee—in direct disregard of his wishes—had removed from the utilities holding company bill now before its provisions requiring absolute dissolution of all "unnecessary" holding companies in 1942.

BLACKBURN GETS TRIPLE DOSE IN COUNTY COURT

Fines Totalling $305 Assessed: Must Stay Jailed till Paid

County Judge William L. Leech assessed three fines against Romeo Blackburn of this city when he appeared in the county court yesterday afternoon and pleaded guilty to the charges which had been filed by Sheriff Ward Miller following his arrest Saturday night at the carnival grounds west of the city by the sheriff. A fine of $200 and costs was imposed on a disorderly conduct charge, $100 and costs for disturbing the peace and $5 and costs for being intoxicated. The court ordered that Blackburn be confined in the county jail until the fine and costs are paid.

Attorney Martin J. Gannon was appointed guardian for Louis J. and Edward Curran, minors, by Judge Leech this morning upon application of John Curran.

Mrs. Edna M. Quick was appointed administratrix of the estate of her mother, the late Mrs. Ida C. Jackson in the county court this morning. The inventory listed personal property of the value of $1,700.

Thomas McGovern, Sr., of May township, was appointed administrator of the estate of the late James McGovern, who died at the Dixon hospital several days ago as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident in the city of Walnut.

Harry Chammess of this city, arrested on a bench warrant charging wife and child abandonment, was arraigned before Judge Leech in the county court yesterday afternoon and furnished bond for the continuance of his hearing which will be conducted before a jury in the county court Friday.

New School Planned for Illinois Blind

Jacksonville, Ill., June 20.—(AP)—Plans of the state to build a new plant for the Illinois school for the deaf were announced by A. L. Bowen, director of public welfare, before 500 delegates attending the 29th annual convention of instructors for the deaf last night.

With the enrollment now about 700, Bowen said the present plant has become inadequate and overcrowded. The director said the state hopes to spend $500,000 in the next two years toward rebuilding the plant.

Huey Long Skeptical Over Sincerity of President in His "Share Wealth" Plan; Sees Smoke Screen

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—With considerable skepticism, Senator Long (D-La.) today welcomed President Roosevelt "back to the fold" of his "share the wealth" movement.

Acclaiming the executive's tax message, Long told reporters that "if he'll come along and actually bust up every big fortune in America, we'd be out of the depression in 24 hours."

"But bear in mind," said the "Kingfish," shaking an admonishing finger, "the burnt child dreads the fire."

"I'm afraid this message came so as to turn the public's mind from the horrible exposures made by Mitchell, his former Assistant Secretary of Commerce, on the gifts and bounties ordered by Mr. Roosevelt for the Astors and their associates."

"I fear that when the boom over these exposures subsides, it will be the end of Mr. Roosevelt's talk about decentralizing wealth. That's been our experience with him in the past."

"SOAK RICH" PRESIDENT'S NEW SCHEME

Huge Additional Taxes Sought by The Administration

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—The senate finance committee refused today to add any of President Roosevelt's wealth tax proposals in approving the house resolution extending $500,000,000 of nuisance and excise levies expiring June 30.

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)
Before Congress had recovered from its surprise at President Roosevelt's call for share-the-wealth taxes, close confidants of the president passed the word today that he is considering a new and broad NRA, designed to be, in a sense, a companion measure to the tax program.

The tax plan, intended to break up great fortunes, and reduce large incomes, was greeted by expressions of gratification from the "left" and criticism from the "right." It was presented to congress late yesterday with the presidential comment that it would encourage the "very sound policy" of a "wider distribution of wealth."

The revised NRA which the president is said to be considering was pictured by some of his advisers, who declined to be quoted by name, as an effort to increase mass purchasing power. Thus, they said, it would be akin to the tax plan. They foresaw the possibility that another "surprise" message on the subject might be forthcoming.

Depend on Big "If"
There is one major "if" on NRA it was said. The plan may be recommended if the administration can find a definition of interstate commerce it considers satisfactory and able to stand the test of constitutionality. Authoritative sources said the president had remarked that he was inclined to believe congress could constitutionally define interstate commerce so the federal government could supervise some things over which the supreme court held the old NRA had no power.

The quest, it was said, is for words to define what the constitution means when it says congress can regulate commerce "among the several states."

Yesterday's tax message, it became clear today, was written and sent to congress against the advice of nearly all the high Democratic advisers on Capitol Hill. After counseling against such an idea some time ago, some of them had been predicting recently that no new taxes would be recommended. But the president it was said authoritatively, wrote the message without their knowledge, and sent it to congress.

Glad to Pay Tax

There's a mere difference of some $800,000 between the amount of contested income tax he believes he may owe the government and the $1,278,298 the government is demanding, but Robert J. Dunham, above, Chicago park district president and public works progress administrator for Illinois, says he is willing to pay whatever amount the courts or the internal revenue commission may finally set. Dunham's lawyers contend the government's valid claim is not more than $100,000.

LIFE-PICTURE

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton.)

ONE of the most famous novels of the last generation told us of a young man, radiant and handsome as a Greek god, whose portrait was painted by a great artist, to preserve his beauty.

"How sad it is that I must grow old!" cried the young man, who burst into tears when he was shown the painting. "My face shall become wrinkled and wizened, my eyes shall grow dim and colorless, but the picture will remain always young to haunt and mock me!"

"Oh, if it were only the other way! If the picture could change and I could remain always what I am now!" His wish was so strong that it became a prayer, and in the story his prayer was granted.

Years passed, and he remained fresh in the full splendor of his youth, unchanged. But the picture—the mirror and reflex of his soul—changed with the changes that came over him and within him.

Alas, through successive stages of degradation and shame, through vice and cruelty, he remained the same, young and beautiful, but the picture took on all the ugliness and viciousness of his life.

As in a mirror he saw all the spiritual disfigurement of his soul. At last the horror of the picture, the ghastly deformity of his soul, drove him to madness and he blew out his brains!

No one who read the story, written with such vivid art and insight ever forgot the tragedy of a man whose life-picture was tied up with a life of evil. It made one think of the words: "He that dies in the full glory of life is buried alive, and he that survives his soul is dead, but unburies. The righteous are alive in death, but those who live for evil are dead in life."

One wishes some writer would turn the story the other way round, and show us a soul seeking the true, the lovely and the good, and then let us see the reflection of such a life in a soul-picture.

As it is, each of us has his own life-picture in his face, painted, stroke by stroke, by his own art of living.

SOCIETY GETS PROBLEM OF WOMAN KIDNAPER

A blond girl wearing a cheap cotton house dress enters a dime store in Salt Lake City, offers a five-dollar bill
to pay for a tin cigarette case—and the kidnaping mystery
that had gripped a nation is ended.
Now that girl, Margaret Waley, and Harmon Waley,
her husband—confessed kidnapers of 9-year-old George Weyerhaeuser of Tacoma, Wash.—wait for the wheels of justice to grind out their punishment.
Because they helped authorities with information
that may result in the capture of the third kidnap suspect, William Mahan, the Waleys will be tried under the federal Lindbergh law, with no worse prospect than life imprisonment, rather than the state of Washington's more drastic law which demands death for kidnapers.
What is Mrs. Waley like, this woman who admits a part in what the United States has come to regard as the most heinous of all crimes—kidnaping?
Is she a heartless creature, utterly unmoved by a mother's agony, deaf to a little child's pleas? Or is she soldly calculating, defiant of society and its rules?
Apparently none of these. Once more, as has so often been proved before, crime in real life lacks the glamour attached to it in fiction. Margaret Waley, plain, unimaginative, married a thief and gunman and helped him in a desperate crime. Then stepped into the traps set by the law.
Mothers with babies of their own in their arms will have scant sympathy for Margaret Waley, branded, by her own admission, "woman kidnaper." Mothers and fathers and thousands of others will remember her as the girl who could plot to steal a curly-haired child from his home, hold him for ransom, and with the money gained
buy soda fountain drinks, cheap finery, a tin cigarette case.
Margaret Waley is a mystery of the times. Unraveling the mystery of her life, the environment and the forces that made her what she is, might indeed throw interesting light on the solution to many of society's baffling
problems in criminology.

INQUIRY IS HEALTHFUL

Regardless of the verdict pronounced upon the charges of Charles R. Walgreen that students at the University of Chicago are "indoctrinated" with communism, the inquiry is a healthful proceeding.
Though it has been denied that the university is responsible for such indoctrination, we have noted in the news of recent days that authorities of the institution denied permission to a socialistic student body to parade
with elements outside the university and that the socialists paraded anyhow. We have noted further that the authorities ordered the student organization disbanded.
These events have a significance all their own and
readers may interpret them in their own way.
In all this, however, we should not overlook the point that the university authorities have been vehement
in their denials of charges brought against the institution. If they considered communism in high favor
throughout the country, they would not be waging their defense so vociferously. The fact that communism sails
under a disguised flag most of the time in this country
also is evidence that the time has not yet come for open advocacy. Otherwise the collegians would adopt the attitude of "what if it?" which has been assumed widely
among those who were bent upon destruction of our form
of government during recent months of "peaceful revolution," which temporarily has been interrupted.
It has appeared from the beginning that Mr. Wal-
green put his finger on a sore spot.

GREAT NEED FOR HOUSING

America's boast of its high standard of living is dealt a terrific blow in the PWA report that lists 11,000, 000 of the nation's homes as definitely in the slum class.
If a third of the country's population is dwelling in houses and neighborhoods of a character "to injure the health and endanger the safety and morals and interfere
with normal lives," then our boast is a hollow mockery.
Whether or not the time has come, as the report insists, "for private enterprise to abandon an impossible
task and let the community take it over," conditions call
for immediate action on a huge scale, whatever agency
is chosen.

With thousands of building craftsmen idle, with mat-
terial business at low tide, with thousands of householders
willing to borrow money if reasonable credit terms can be obtained, and with surveys showing a growing shortage of good rental property, it seems that concentration
on this problem would do more than anything else to help relieve depression and alleviate misery.

THE LAW'S ABOUT FACE

Atty. Gen. Homer S. Cummings says that the government may be obliged presently to prosecute business
concerns which continue price fixing under unofficial codes of fair competition.
This seems to bring us up against one of the queer-
est and dizziest headaches that has afflicted Washington
and the business community in some time.
It is only a fortnight or so since the attorney general's men were busily proceeding against businessmen who violated the price fixing codes. Now, by a simple twist of the wrist, they are to reverse their field and start action against men for doing what the government was trying to compel them to do two or three weeks ago!
It would be hard to think of a queerer twist in government policy.

Old Rip snored loudly. Duncy

His snoring almost scares me. I'll

Then Scouty laughed and said,
"Why, you should talk! That is

"All right, then, if I have the Preceding the program, given in the main auditorium of the church,

many visited the basement to view
the interesting display of hand-

Ethiopian Soldiers Shed Shoes and Get Ready to Defend Empire from Italy

Entire Nation is Enraged; 800,000 Respond to Call

(Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press)

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, June 20.—Ethiopia's tribal warriors cast aside their shoes today, ready to "defend the empire to the last man" against an anticipated Italian invasion.

European military advisers had tried to introduce the footwear, but the troops reverted to bare feet while plunging with almost fanatical fervor into a new, voluntary military training program.

"The shoes have been abandoned because agility and mobility was impaired," a high official said. "They were also an unnecessary expense. When the times comes, our soldiers will fight with bullets, spears and sabres—not with their feet!"

The tribesmen submitted to western ways in one respect, donning the cumbersome and conspicuous white togas which are the national dress, adopting instead khaki garb to camouflage their movements.

No Age Restrictions
The emperor's call for voluntary enlistment placed no restriction on age. Elderly men were preferred, being considered more accustomed to the hardships of a rugged outdoor life.

What they lack in skill in handling machine guns and other implements of modern warfare, the native warriors make up in the fierceness with which they yield sabres.

Some 100,000 of the 800,000 estimated to be available for the field rely almost entirely on the sabre and use it with devastating effect at close quarters—where the Ethiopian prefers to fight.

Reports arriving at this capital from remote parts of the empire said the entire nation is enraged by a belief that Italy covets Ethiopia.

Traveling Around America

A FRINGED RAINCOAT

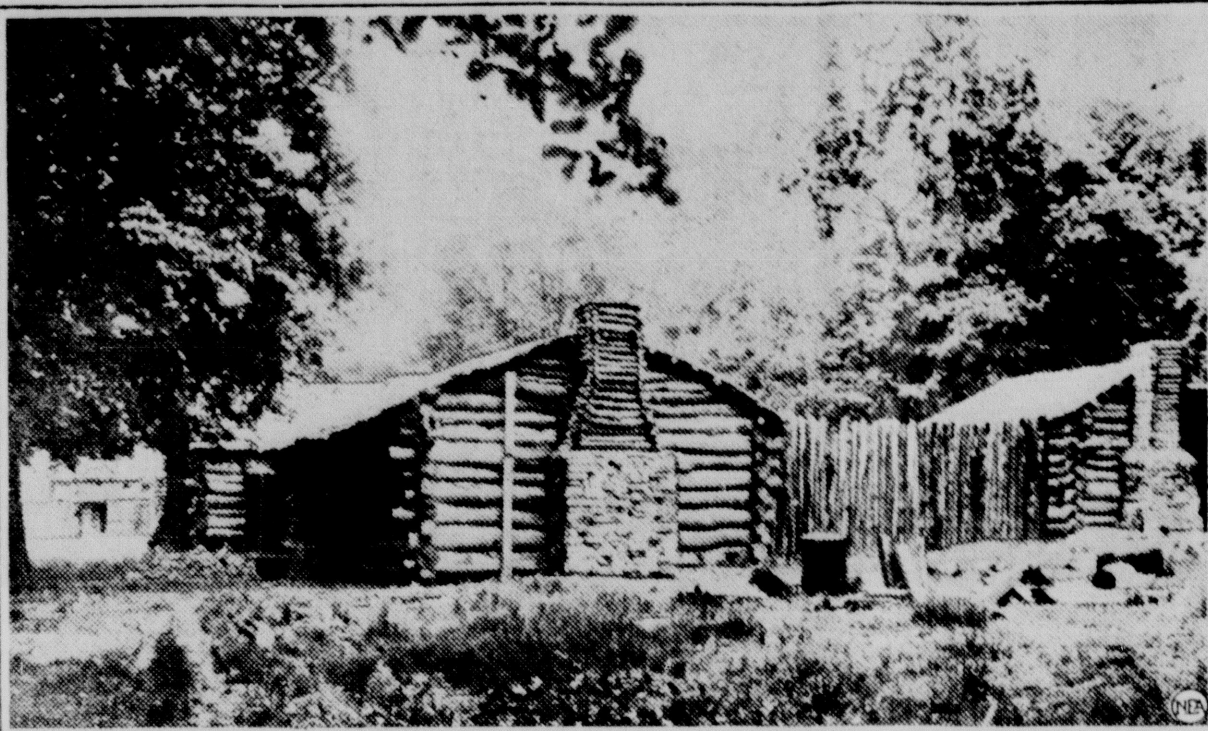

SOMETHING new in raincoats is this snappy model made of palm leaves. The style was created by the natives of Mexico and has proven extremely popular. The overlapping leaves shed showers in an amazing manner and have the rough and ready look that goes well with a rainy day. A group of natives thus raincoated has a decidedly camouflaged appearance—looking for all the world like a grove of animated shrubs.

Fair weather costumes, however, are the ones which catch the eye, and the variety of regional designs and color combinations always impress the visitor traveling through the country on the fortnightly Rail-Water Circle Trips to Mexico. In Oaxaca the costumes are particularly picturesque. The women wear billowing skirts in the gayest of colors, red or purple sashes, square-necked blouses with borders of red embroidery, and rebozos of blue and white worn turban fashion with ends hanging down the back.

The serapes of Oaxaca are particularly famous. They are made from the finest wool with strange figures of idols and designs inspired by the Aztec calendar woven in a myriad of bright colors. The most gorgeous ones find their way to the Mexico City markets and are eagerly picked up by tourists.

GRIFFIN PROVED TURNING POINT IN BRADDOCK'S LIFE

After Jim Knocked Him Out Lady Luck Began to Shower Smiles

(This is the last of four stories of the career of Jimmy Braddock, new world's heavyweight champion.)

By EDWARD J. NEIL

(Associated Press Sports Writer.)
New York, June 20.—(AP)—No story of the life of James J. Braddock is complete without the tale of Corn Griffin of Georgia, who came from nowhere, went right back there, and left the foundation of a new heavyweight dynasty in his wake.

Braddock was working on the Jersey docks, his fighting career apparently behind him, when Griffin, a heavyweight purchased from Uncle Sam's army for $68, came north to help Primo Carnera train for his heavyweight title defense against Max Baer. Griffin beat Carnera so easily in workouts that he became something of a sensation.

Two nights before the championship card just a year ago Braddock's manager, Joe Gould called. "I got you a fight with a guy named Corn Muffins," he shouted, "get yourself right in training."

Braddock quit his job, trained one day, Griffin knocked him down with a right hand in the second round. Jimmy got up and flattened Corn three times.

His Hardest Blow
"I never hit anybody so hard in all my life," Braddock said.

Gould embraced him in the empty dressing room as Baer was tearing Carnera down, winning the title he was to lose a year later in this same Braddock.

"Joe, if I could do that on hash, what do you think I could do with a couple of steaks under my belt?" "We will see," yelled Gould. They cashed Jim's check for $250 and the comeback was on.

They sat together on the hard benches outside Jimmy Johnston's offices in Madison Square Garden for weeks, waiting, hoping for another fight. It didn't come until fall, when Braddock got a ten round match with John Henry Lewis, crack negro light heavyweight. Jimmy won a close one.

From then on Gould never stopped yelling for more fights. Finally they needed someone for Art Lasky. Jimmy got the chance. So last winter a 1 to 5 shot as usual, he methodically plastered Lasky all over the Garden ring.

Named Challenger

Jimmy paid back the $300 the government gave him on relief out of the $4,100 he got for the victory. The state athletic commission named him foremost challenger when, by another break of luck, Max Schmeling knocked out the foremost challenger, Steve Hamas, and then decided not to cross the ocean for the title chance at Max Baer.

Steve's days had broadened, strengthened, steered Braddock for the great test. He went into the ring at 10 to 1, and licked the magnificent Baer by sheer doggedness, more than anything else.

He's still the same Braddock, and he'd carry your golf sticks tomorrow and think nothing of it if he liked you. His debts are paid, there is a trust fund started for the youngsters, Young Jay and Howard are going to Yale, Rose Marie to Vassar.

As some wag brightly remarked, they should send Baer along with Rose Marie to hold the daisy chain.

National Collegiate Classic at Berkeley, Calif. Holds Interest

Berkeley, Calif., June 20.—(AP)—The track and field public in this area is losing a lot of sleep trying to dope out the results of the 14th annual National Collegiate Athletic Association classic which starts its two-day program in Edwards stadium tomorrow.

From the quickest event scheduled, the 100-yard dash, right through the most dragged out competition of any meet, the pole vault, the day promises outstanding performances. T. Nelson Metcalf of Chicago, chairman of the N. C. A. A. track and field committee, believes performances this year will exceed those of 1934 in practically every event except the shot put.

Just to add to the complications, Willis Ward, Michigan State's great all-around performer, has announced he definitely will be an entrant in the 120-yard high hurdles. A great field already was lined up for the event.

Ohio State University's troupe, which includes Jesse Owens, was due in from a week's training at Los Angeles today.

BAMBINO WON'T BE HAPPY UNTIL RETURN TO GAME

Spends Time Golfing, Eating What He Wants to, Smoking, Reading

New York, June 20.—(AP)—

What? become of Babe Ruth? Ever since he quit the Boston Braves more than three weeks ago, the great man has been baseball's No. 1 mystery.

Nobody knew where he was, what he was doing, or why.

Once—and only once—he yielded to what must be an eternal urge and went near a ball park. That was the last time the Braves played here.

Nattily attired in white flannels, but wearing the inevitable brown cap, the old Bambino strode into the Polo Grounds, took a box directly behind the Giant dugout and held court for a half hour before the game.

He was as amiable as ever. He signed score cards with the old Ruthian flourish, shook hands with his late teammates, some of whom he could not call by name, and responded pleasantly to the shouts of greeting from the sparsely populated stands.

Spends Time Golfing

But what is the big fellow doing? How does he spend his time and what is he thinking about? The tip off came when a photograph showed the Babe golfing in—of all things—shorts.

This called for a bit of an investigation and here is the lowdown:

He rises when he pleases. He eats what he likes for breakfast. He lights a cigar and spends a half hour with the papers. He reads the box scores closely, particularly those of the Yankee games. He pays little or no attention to the doings of the Braves.

Almost any afternoon finds the Bambino shooting in the low 80's on one of a half dozen Long Island courses. Then he motors back to West 88th street, eats what he pleases for dinner and spends the evening at cards or the movies. There is no "hot spotting."

The Babe isn't completely happy and won't be until he is back in baseball in some capacity. He's keeping his eyes open and if he doesn't get back into the big show as a manager, he may try to buy into a club. He's sure he'll be back in baseball sometime.

INDIANS APPEAR TEAM TO BATTLE YANKS FOR FLAG

Recover From Heart-breaking Experiences With Fine Courage

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Cleveland Indians have been guilty of some strange inconsistencies this season, but at times it looks as if they might give the league-leading Yankees the best fight for the American League pennant.

Threatened with a plunge into the second division only a week ago, Walter Johnson's Tribe fought its way clear with four straight victories over the Red Sox, then shook off another heart-breaking blow yesterday to split a doubleheader with Washington and gain undisputed possession of third place as the Tigers dropped a pair to the Yanks.

Cleveland showed plenty of hitting power in both games, gathering 31 hits, including five home runs. But after building up a 5-0 lead in the opener, the Indians were forced to yield 11 to 8 when Thornton Lee blew sky high in the eighth.

Undaunted, the Indians went on to slug a pair of former Cleveland flingers, Jack Russell and Bette Bean for 17 hits, including Hal Trosky's tenth and eleventh homers, to win the second game 10 to 1.

Bridges Finally Beaten

The Tigers sought a similar comeback after taking a 13 to 3 drubbing from the Yanks in the opener but after 12 exciting innings went down on all counts. The 7 to 6 defeat not only dropped them to fourth but it ended Tommy Bridges' winning streak after nine straight mound victories.

Bridges and Vito Tamulis fought it out evenly until each team collected a tenth inning homer. Pat Malone finished for the Yanks and Bridges weakened in the twelfth when an error by Flea Clifton put the Yanks in position to score three times. The Tigers nearly salvaged the game when Charles Gehring poked a homer and Hank Greenberg followed with another, but Goose Goslin couldn't finish the job.

The Red Sox and Browns divided the third American League double bill, Boston winning the opener 8 to 5 despite two homers by Julius Fellers and one by Ed Coleman, and the Browns taking the afterpiece 6 to 3 behind Sugar Cain's seven-hit flinging.

In the National League the Braves and Cubs split the only games that escaped the bad weather. Bob Smith got the better of Lon Warneke to give Boston the first clash 2 to 1. Bill Lee outlasted Huck Bets in the nightcap, winning 3 to 0.

William Tilden, Third, in National Collegiate

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—"Big Bill" Tilden's nephew, William T. Tilden, the third, will compete for Princeton in the national collegiate tennis championships at Northwestern next week.

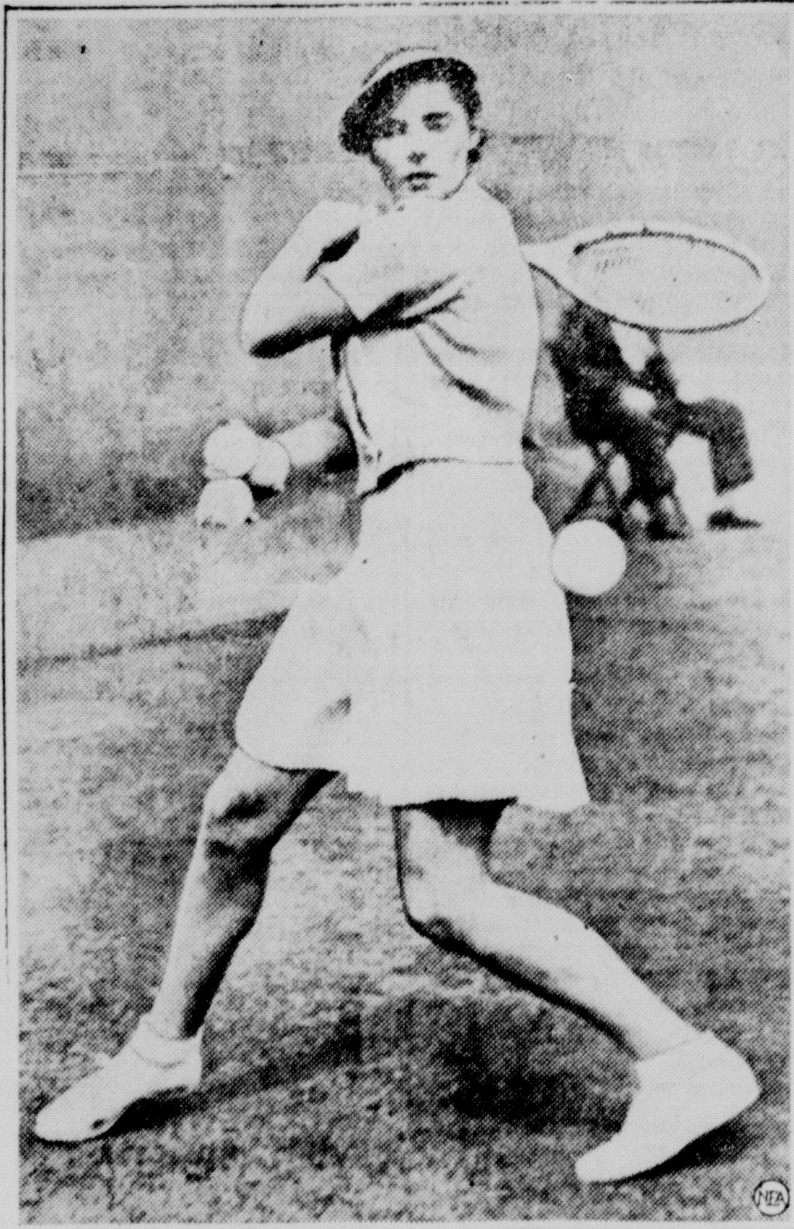

The national collegiate title is one of the few never won by "Big Bill," but the reason is simple: He didn't compete for it.

TINY TENNIS

Paddle tennis, a miniature form of the regulation game, is scheduled to sweep the country like miniature golf did a couple of years back. Such is the prediction of Archie Talbot, La Jolla, Calif., playground director, who has introduced the game in the west. The playing area is about a third the size of a tennis court, and the net is only knee high. Old tennis balls and wooden paddles are used. Here is Talbot explaining the game to a youthful player.

She is Kay Stammers, a southpaw, to whom Mrs. Moody bowed in straight sets in the semi-final of the Kent tournament at Beckenham, Eng.

Tennis Tournament is Far Behind Schedule

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—After three days of rain, the battle for the national clay courts tennis championships was expected to open with rapid fire eliminations on the courts of the River Forest and Oak Park tennis clubs today. Far behind schedule, tournament officials hoped to get the singles championship decided as far as the fourth round by tonight.

FORMER MAJOR LEAGUER TO BE PITCHER SUNDAY

Jerry Mueller to Oppose Dixon Indians at Airport Park

Jerry Mueller, one of the crew of pitchers with the Red Horse baseball team of Chicago, which will meet the Dixon Independents at the Airport field Sunday afternoon, has had quite a colorful baseball career. After playing three years of baseball at Lakeview High School in Chicago, Jerry was signed by the Rock Island Club of the Mississippi Valley League, where he played for two years. Leaving there he went to Oklahoma City in the Texas League. While with this club Jerry was not very successful so he did the smartest thing that could be done under the circumstances by pulling up stakes in the southwest and securing a contract with Portsmouth of the Piedmont league. It was while he was playing with this club that Jerry had the distinction of pitching the first night game in organized baseball.

Mueller showed such improvement in this league that he was purchased by the Boston Nationals, with whom he had two successful seasons. When his eyes started to go back on him, Mueller could no longer keep up with the major league competition so he hired out to one of the House of David clubs which traveled through the New England states. One afternoon while playing in a small town in New Hampshire, Jerry was so taken by the beauty of one of the village belles that he secured a date and rushed off to the hotel barber shop to get a haircut and a shave. This action was so contrary to all the rules and regulations of the long-haired, full-bearded cultists that he was presented with an unconditional release. Thus did the Red Horse team secure the services of a first rate pitcher who will be seen in action here Sunday afternoon the game being called promptly at 2:30.

Approximately 55,516 men, an increase of 3,474 over the preceding year, were sent to prison in England during 1932.

'Where the Flying Fishes Play'

Not quite on the road to Mandalay, but off Catalina Island Clark Gable finds amusement between scenes taking pot shots at the flying fishes. You see him here dressed in a leading role for "Mutiny on the Bounty" lolling aboard a replica of this famous schooner while the next scene is being prepared for him.

GREAT GOLF By Art Krenz

A No. 4 iron to the tenth green during the California Open of 1934 started a streak of scoring that brought Horton Smith from behind to win the tournament.

"This shot was one of the finest I ever hit," Horton relates. "The ball came to rest only a foot from the cup, and I knocked it in for a birdie three."

Smith went on to finish the last nine with 32, giving him a 67 for the final 18, and a total of 283. A full No. 4 iron is played the same as any other full iron shot. Keeping in mind the fundamentals, such as the straight left arm, the shot is executed with a reasonable amount of body turn and pivot.

M. E. MINISTERS EXCHANGE THEIR PULPITS SUNDAY

Three Churches in R. River Valley Group Not Included in Move

The Rock River Valley Group of Methodist ministers in the Joliet-Dixon district have arranged a pulp exchange for Sunday, which will include all the churches except Fourth Street, Sterling, Dixon and Erie.

The secretary of the group, Rev. Ray Edwin Bond of Sterling, announces the following exchanges: Rev. A. J. Bishop of Walnut will preach at Amboy; Rev. E. L. Edwards of Amboy at Prophetstown; Rev. A. E. Simister of Prophetstown will preach at Walnut; Rev. L. E. Winter of Ashton and Franklin Grove at Rock Falls; Rev. R. M. Furnish of Rock Falls will preach at Ashton and Franklin Grove; Rev. J. S. ## CAPACITY CROWD AT BOXING SHOW TOMORROW EVE

Card of Bouts at Airport Arena Unusually Strong One

The demand for reserved seats for Friday evening's boxing bill at the Dixon Municipal Airport hangar, indicated another capacity crowd for the Dixon Athletic Association's third entertainment. The bill of seven bouts will bring together some of the best boxing talent available.

Harry Kobbleman, the popular heavyweight, who follows farming as his vocation near Prophetstown, and who early last winter, boxed his way to the district championship in the Golden Glove tournament, will appear as one of the headline attractions. He is matched to meet Jesse Pensen of Peoria, a hard hitting opponent who is making his initial appearance before the fans of Dixon and vicinity.

The match which brings together "Slack" Novak of DePue and Dixie Caudle of DeKalb should prove another headline. Novak has appeared in local programs several seasons ago and this will mark Caudle's second appearance locally. They will weigh in at the 142 pound weights. Novak is of the boring in type of boxer and promises to give Caudle plenty of action for the 3 rounds of their attraction.

Jack Sharkey will preside as referee of all the bouts. Cal G. Tyler and James Bales will officiate as judges with the veteran Tim Sullivan holding the stop watch and controlling the going. The first match will enter the ring at 8:30.

Midget Auto, Motorcycle Races Sunday at Speedbowl Track

Sterling, Ill., June 20.—(Special)—Midget auto and motorcycle races are scheduled for Sunday afternoon at the new one-fifth-mile track at Speedbowl park, which is located just west of the city on the Lincoln highway. The weatherman has promised favorable weather and that means that the track will be lightning fast. The track has been well graded during the past two weeks and the cars and cycles will be able to hit a mile-a-minute clip or better around the small oval.

Phil Lazio of Cedar Rapids, Ia., will be seated behind the wheel of a fas car. Among the other early entries are Orville Lowers, Chester Morris and Al Kaminski of Milwaukee, and Ralph McDaniel of West Allis. It is expected that at least 15 fast cars will be in the pits and everything will be done to put on a real card of events for thrill lovers.

Midget car races have been going over in a big way on all tracks throughout the country and everything points toward a big crowd and plenty of cars for the Sunday meet.

Ace of Diamonds

It feels like soap, looks like a piece of ice and is worth a cool million dollars, that's the Jonker diamond, largest in the world which has just been brought to New York from London for cutting. How its 726 karats size (about five ounces) compares with an average diamond solitaire is illustrated above.

Rust is estimated to cost the world more than five billion dollars annually.

STATISTICS ON GRANGE'S GRID CAREER ISSUED

Figures Prove Just How Good Famous Red Head Was

Chicago, June 20.—(AP)—How good a football player was Red Grange?

These statistics, released in connection with his acceptance of the backfield coach post with the Chicago Bears of the National Professional Football League, tell the story of the prowess of the famous Red Head whose football playing days are over:

He played 237 regulation games of high school, college and professional football.

He carried the ball 4,013 times, gaining a total of 32,820 yards, or about 18 miles.

He scored 531 touchdowns and a grand total of 3,364 points.

His lifetime average gain per carry was 9.2 yards.

At Wheaton, Ill., high school, he carried the ball (almost every play) about 1,260 times in 36 contests, gained 10,800 yards and scored 180 touchdowns.

During three varsity seasons at the University of Illinois, he carried the ball 750 times for 3,637 yards and 32 touchdowns.

Over nine seasons of professional football, he carried the leather 2,003 times, gained 18,383 yards and scored 320 touchdowns.

He was watched by 300 Wheaton fans in his first game and by 90,000 in his last college game for Illinois against Ohio State.

Grange was offered the head-coaching position of the Bears by President-Coach George Halsan, but said he preferred to start his coaching career as a backfield instructor.

th Capitol in a hurry so pressure would not be brought on him to withhold it.

Some Suggestions

The message suggested:

1. Inheritance, succession and legacy taxes in addition to those now levied on estates, and suitably higher gift taxes to prevent avoidance of the other levies;
2. A "definite increase" in present taxes on "very great" individual incomes;
3. Graduated corporation income taxes ranging from 10 3-4 to 16 3-4 per cent instead of the present flat 13 3-4 per cent;
4. "Elimination" of "unnecessary holding companies in all lines of business" through taxation;
5. Submission and ratification of a constitutional amendment permitting the federal government to tax future issues of state and local securities and allowing state and local governments to tax future federal securities.

Probably "Must" Law

The president pictured the fourth point as something to be done "ultimately," not at this session of congress. There was some doubt in the minds of many congressional leaders as to how pressing the 5th point was considered. Most agreed, however, that the inheritance, gift, higher bracket income and corporate income taxes were offered as "ought" legislation and probably "must."

Chairman Harrison (D. Miss.) of the senate finance committee did not express enthusiasm about the tax program. There was a possibility that it could be added as an amendment to the $502,000,000 "nuisance" tax extension measure now heading for the senate floor.

Harrison, however, said he hoped that would not be done, declaring that unless the nuisance taxes were extended most of them would expire June 30 and the government would lose around $1,500,000 a day in revenue.

Will Delay Adjournment

Chairman Doughton (D. N. C.) of the house ways and means committee was apparently more optimistic. He called his committee to meet today for a discussion of the message.

Forecasts were almost unanimous that if the taxes were left to the house committee, long hearings would be necessary, prolonging the session indefinitely. One leader, Chairman O'Connor (D. N. Y.) of the house rules committee, interpreted the tax proposals as "must" asserting they would delay adjournment of congress "until Thanksgiving."

Generally, the tax plan drew praise from those Democrats who commented and from some Republican liberals, with other legislators contending that it would retard recovery.

There was no immediate comment on the president's contention that wealth "does not come merely from individual effort" but "from a combination of individual effort and of the manifold uses to which the community puts that effort."

The subject of budget-balancing was touched upon in one part of the message. It said that money raised by the new inheritance taxes should be applied "to the reduction of the national debt."

DAILY HEALTH

SUNBURN: 2.

Not all persons are alike susceptible to sunburn. Women, for example, burn more readily—in 20 per cent less time. Age has a definite relationship to skin sensitivity. Thus, infants require one-fourth, children one-third and the aged two-thirds of the amount of sunlight sufficient to burn the average adult.

Experience has shown also that different parts of the body differ in the degree of sensitiveness to sunburn. In general, those portions whose skin layers are thinnest are most sensitive. Blonde and fair-skinned people burn more readily than do brunettes.

A sufficiently prolonged exposure of the skin to sunlight usually leads to a first-degree burn. In this condition the skin is reddened, tense, swollen.

The serum coming forth from the skin facilitates the formation of blisters. These blisters may become infected and lead to the formation of scars with pigmented margins. If the sunburn involves the skin over the joints, the joints themselves may become swollen and stiff.

Sunburn reactions generally set in within 4 to 5 hours after exposure and subside from 36 to 72 hours.

The best treatment of sunburn is prevention. Persons with sensitive skins should rub the exposed surface with cold cream, petrolatum or bore ointment before exposure.

The skin may be toughened and darkened by the application of dilute solutions of acetic acid or vinegar. This should be applied to the skin in liberal quantities and allowed to dry. Many a lifeguard obtains

Eddie Cantor Wonders What Fast Automobile Drivers Think About

pointed my way than with a drunken or reckless driver. At least you've got a chance to reason with a guy holding a gun.

"If every person drove his car as if his horn were out of order, there could never be an accident. And how much safer every individual would be if people drove with the thought that the other fellow in the other car was going to do something wrong.

Curbing Reckless Drivers

"Early in the spring, one of my radio fans sent me a little poem. If I had my way it would be handed to every applicant for a driver's license. Here it is:

Here lies the body of William Jay,
Who died maintaining his right of way.
He was right as he sped along,
But he's just as dead
As if he'd been wrong.

"Too many automobile drivers today, stop, look and listen only because there's something wrong with their engines. They should have more faith in signs. One motor vehicle authority I know recently submitted a unique and promising plan for curbing reckless driving. He would compel speedsters to sit in their automobiles, parked in a public square, with loud radio speakers broadcasting: 'Here are reckless drivers who have no respect for their own lives or anyone else's'.

"Make no mistake, it would bring desirable results. But the tragedies caused by reckless drivers have given me a thought that provides a more drastic penalty. Pass it on to the lawmakers in your community: Every person who has been given three tickets for speeding—making him a third offender—should not only have his license revoked, but he should not be permitted to drive a car again for the rest of his natural life.

"Wouldn't you feel safer?"

A Friend Who Knows a Friend

"It's so easy to break the speed laws, and once they're broken, there's always a friend who knows a friend who can 'fix' your ticket for speeding. Not until the time arrives when we have respect for the most important of all motorcycle cops—our own conscience—not until then can we hope for relief from the thousands upon thousands of tragedies that happen annually through reckless driving.

"Personally, I'd rather take my chances with a fellow holding a gun

INDO-VIN ENDS MANY FORMS OF HEALTH TROUBLE

New Medicine Mixes With Sufferer's Food and Goes to Every Source of Common Ailments; A "Blessing" to Those Afflicted With Stomach Trouble, Weak Kidneys, Nervousness and General Run-Down Condition.

Thousands of people are calling at the Ford Hopkins Drug Store where the Indo-Vin man in person is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining this new and scientific mixture of nature's medicines, called Indo-Vin, which mixes with the sufferer's food and is helping people in this vicinity who had NEVER BEEN really helped before by ANY medicine.

G. H. Mosby
Originator of Indo-Vin

Actual Cases
"One of the first cases for which Indo-Vin was used was kidney trouble—getting up frequently at nights. The man who took it came back the third day and said he had slept all the previous night. We learned afterward that he had been doctoring over ten years for his trouble. In another case a man was crippled with rheumatism and deranged kidneys. He hadn't left the vicinity of his home for two years. He completed a few weeks' treatment with Indo-Vin and said he walked a distance of nearly a mile. This, of course, was three weeks after he completed the treatment. Thus, it was determined that Indo-Vin should do wonders for neuritis, and one lady who had tried nearly everything for this affliction said that five bottles of Indo-Vin had completely ended every ache and pain. She had previously taken mineral baths, electrical treatments and medicine without relief. All of these are actual cases and can be verified.

"Another woman was treated with Indo-Vin for stomach trouble. She said in five years she had spent several thousand dollars trying to regain her health. She had been in bed three days out of five but shortly after she started with Indo-Vin she could eat heartily of many things she hadn't dared to eat before. Her food agreed with her and she continued with Indo-Vin about six weeks. She came back and said she felt ten years younger, and her appearance certainly showed it. One lady stated the medicine did her more good than two years of special dieting; she took Indo-Vin for nervousness and general rundown condition."

How It Acts

Taken shortly after meals, Indo-Vin works with the food in one's stomach, thus throwing off the poisons that foster stomach troubles and permitting the liver and kidneys to function properly. It contains a combination of 22 medicinal extracts from natural plants found in no other known formula. By helping nature it is vastly more effective than previously known medicines, and goes to the very source of common ailments. It has astounded druggists and public alike here in Dixon and hundreds claim it has been a blessing to their health.

While it is being introduced in Dixon every suffering person can take this medicine at the small cost of only a few cents a day for it is not expensive.

The Indo-Vin Man is now at the Ford Hopkins Drug Store, here in Dixon, daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining this new mixture of Nature's Medicines. Also being sold in all the nearby towns by every good druggist throughout this whole section.

Facing it in this night view is the speakers' stand, appearing tiny as outlined against the mammoth folds of the flag, with the throng massed about it. The flag, 102 feet long and 54 feet wide, weighs almost a ton.

Stories in STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

THE FIRST CHARITY STAMP

THE International Red Cross Society had advanced 25 years, when in 1889 Portugal led the rest of the world in honoring this organization by means of a stamp, and at the same time establishing a form of charity that has spread rapidly among other nations.

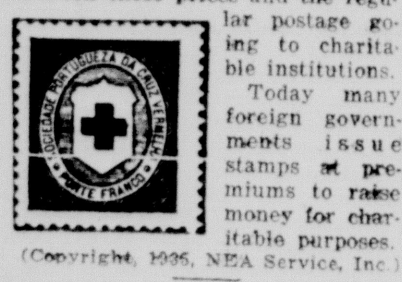

For Portugal's Red Cross stamp of 1889 was distributed by the government among charitable, scientific, and military organizations, to be used for franking their correspondence.

Eight years later this idea was adopted by the Australian states of Victoria and New South Wales, which issued two stamps of moderate high values, the difference between these prices and the regular postage going to charitable institutions.

Today many foreign governments issue stamps of premiums to raise money for charitable purposes.

SENATE JAMMED SOCIAL MEASURE TO CONFERENCE

Clark Amendment Will
be Bone of Contention
During Parleys

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—Though President Roosevelt's gigantic social security program has now passed both houses of congress one major controversy remains to be fought to a finish.

Brushing aside scattered cries of "unconstitutional" the senate approved the bill yesterday, 76 to 6, but before it did so, it tacked on the Clark amendment under which pension systems set up by private concerns would be exempt from the taxation provided in the measure.

So the bill now must be threshed over in a conference of senators and representatives to see what shall be done about this and some other amendments. Aside from these changes the giant measure, which entails the largest tax program ever swept through congress, is generally in the form in which the Roosevelt administration desires it.

Clark Amendment
Senator Clark (D. Mo.) author of the exemption measure contended, with other senators, that if companies with approved private pension systems had to bear the federal taxes, the private systems would be destroyed. Then, they said, if the supreme court should knock out the government plan, the workers would be without any protection.

Some friends of the Roosevelt measure answered that the amendment would destroy the federal system. They contended that employers would take care of the younger men, who have a longer active life expectancy, and shunt the older workers to the government, thus breaking down the government reserve fund.

Another change made by the senate was to eliminate a provision to permit the treasury to sell annuities. Two senate amendments were said in many circles to have a good chance of victory. One would exempt states without pension plans from matching—during the first two years—the $15 a month the federal government will offer for needy aged. The other would include blind persons in the grants for needy aged.

Bill's Provisions
The bill, which contemplates annual expenditures of 4 to 5 billions of dollars annually, would offer $15 a month for each $15 contributed by states, for needy persons over 65 or needy blind.

Provide benefits of $10 to $65 in contributory old age pensions. For this employers and employees would, by 1949, be axed 3 per cent each on wages up to $3,000 a year. Taxes would begin at one per cent each in 1937.

Tax employers of 4 or more persons one per cent next year and 3 per cent by 1938, on their payrolls for unemployment insurance. They would get credit for 90 per cent of this if paid into a state insurance system. States would determine benefits.

Provide for aid to dependent and crippled children, maternal and child health work, and other welfare efforts.

The average person drinks one ton of water in a year's time.

LIMIT INCREASE IN SCHOOL FUND TO ONE MILLION

House Committee is Told
Horner Would Veto a Larger Boost

Springfield, Ill., June 20.—(AP)—Democratic leaders today fixed $1,500,000, an increase of one million dollars, as the top annual figure for the state school distributive fund appropriation.

On the ground that Governor Horner would not approve a larger distribution from the treasury, Chairman James P. Boyle prevailed upon the House appropriations committee to reconsider its decision to put the annual amount of state aid to schools at $15,000,000.

The only chance of boosting the appropriation was on the amendment stage as the bill goes through the two Houses. The Illinois Teachers Association for months has demanded that the distributive fund, through which the school districts now get $10,500,000 yearly in inverse ratio to their local taxing ability, be increased to $30,000,000.

Boyle, who has been ill, was not present at the Tuesday session when his House committee decided that the state should give $5,000,000 extra to the schools.

Forced Compromise
He came back late yesterday in time to stop the big increase and prevailed upon the committee to accept $1,000,000 as a compromise.

While school officials protested that the legislature has done little to solve their problems, it was expected at the State House that educational questions would be taken

On Trial Again in Insull Crash

Facing trial in what may be the last of their court appearances in connection with the fall of the Insull utilities empire, Samuel Insull, Jr., left, Harold L. Stuart, center, and Samuel Insull, Sr., are shown here in Chicago federal court. Violation of the federal bankruptcy law is the charge against the trio. Stuart is the head of the investment firm of Halsey Stuart & Co.

up before many months by a special session.

Administration spokesmen gave the uncertainties over the budget as the reason for objecting to a big increase in school aid.

Boyle's committee approved the Senate bill appropriating $5,619,550 to the five normal schools for operating expenses during the next two years. The Senate, as a compromise, had added $354,650 to the figure originally set by the Horner administration.

Except for the educational bills and the $5,000,000 voted by the Senate for old age pensions, most of the appropriations have been sent through both Houses.

The Senate late yesterday with one roll call and in less than five minutes, passed twenty of the House appropriation bills. The action came so quickly the secretary had hard pressed to keep his records up to date. That left only a few money bills on the calendars.

EARLY TEST OF WAGNER'S LABOR LAW IS CERTAIN

Jammed Through House
Despite Question of Its Constitutionality

Washington, June 20.—(AP)—An early test in the Supreme Court of the Wagner labor disputes bill, creating a permanent national labor relations, appeared likely today after its victorious sweep through the House.

Cries of "unconstitutional" were raised time and again during the eight hours of debate yesterday, but in the end it was jammed through without even a standing vote and sent to the Senate for concurrence in amendments.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, hailed the passage of the bill as a "Magna Charta of labor." He and other labor leaders had renewed demands for its passage when NRA, with its collective bargaining guarantee, was swept away by the Supreme Court.

Issue to Supreme Court

They were confronted by organized business groups and some industrialists who fought its passage through Congress. It was generally expected that foes of the bill would take the issue to the highest court. Just before shouts of "vote" rang through the House chamber early last night, Chairman Connery (D-Mass.) of the labor committee, said: "We have no fears for the bill on constitutional grounds."

But Rep. Lehibach (R. N. J.) asserted the bill "is manifestly unconstitutional."

Before passage the bill was amended to make the new labor board an independent agency instead of part of the labor department. Another amendment adopted would prevent employees in one plant from calling on those in another in the same industry, but owned by a different employer, for help in forcing through collective bargaining agreements.

Connery predicted the latter amendment would be stricken out in the Senate.

GOSSIP NOTE

Increased Pensions for Blind Provided in New Illinois Law

Springfield, Ill., June 26 —(AP)— County and state tax increases to pay blind pensions were approved
today when Governor Homer signed two bills by Rep. John R. Mc-

Sweeney, Chicago Democrat.

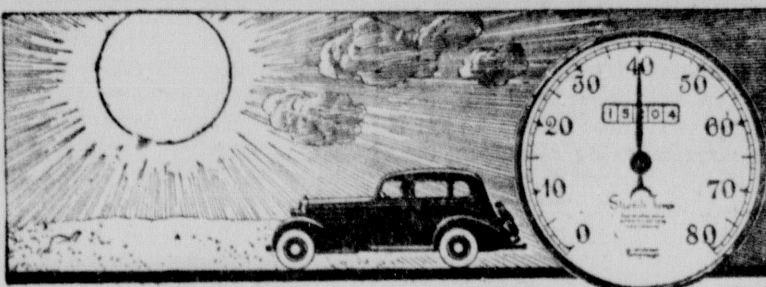

The state tax for blind relief
would be on a one-fifth mill basis,
instead of one-tenth as at present. The new laws provide that, if county funds are inadequate, special taxes may be levied at one-tenth mill for Cook county, three-tenths for downstate counties having a population of 100,000 and five

tenths for the smaller downstate
counties.

Persons who were incapacitated
before loss of eyesight or who have property valued at $2,500 would be denied blind pensions.

Homer also signed the Wilson
bill requiring proof that cattle condemned for tuberculosis are purebred and the McSweeney bill
making changes in the Chicago
firemen's annuity and benefit fund.

AS THE SUN GOES DOWN!

"Slow down or go down" might well become the motto of every driver after the sun goes down. Because of the relative ineffective-
range of visibility afforded by most headlights of cars, speed around 30
miles per hour should be about the limit during hours of darkness.

Automobile accidents are far more serious when they occur during
hours of darkness than when they happen in daytime. It is shown by the statistics of the Travelers Insurance Company. During last year, there was not a single one of the twelve hours of normal darkness in which the rate of death per accident
was less than during daytime. Yet
despite this fact, which has pre-valled for a number of years, many
drive their automobiles as fast during darkness as in the daytime.

From 6 a. m. to 6 p. m., the normal
daylight hours, there were 459,510
automobile accidents last year in
which 15,050 persons were killed.

From 6 p. m. to 6 a. m., the normal
hours of darkness, when the volume
of traffic generally is only one-fifth
as great as in daytime, there were 422,490 automobile accidents in
which 20,950 persons were killed.

This comparison shows that the rate
of death per accident was 51.4 per cent worse during the hours of darkness than during the hours of daylight, and on the basis of traffic volume, the rate of death during hours
of darkness was several hundred
per cent greater than during daylight.

There isn't any doubt that during
hours of darkness the probability of an automobile accident proving serious is much greater than during daylight.

Science has classified more than 20,000 varieties of ocean creatures.

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElfitt © 1935, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
KATHARINE STRYKHURST,
20 and beautiful, allows her emotions to rule when she marries MICHAEL HEATHCOTE, young
riding instructor who comes into a title and fortune. Katharine's
father is rich and her stepmother
is ennobled.
The night following his marriage Michael is injured in a traffic accident and when he regains
consciousness his memory is impaired. He forgets the marriage.
Katharine, unaware of this, believes he has deserted her. She plans to leave for New Mexico
and her friend, VIOLET MERSEY,
agrees to engage a lawyer in her
absence to arrange an annulment
of the marriage.

DE. JOHN RAYE, an old friend,
sees Katharine off on her trip.
He tells her he has always loved
her.

SALLY MOON, who has snared Michael into a sort of engagement, plans for their wedding.
Unaware of Michael's marriage to Katharine, meanwhile Katharine,
in New Mexico, finds some peace
from her hurt, but still thinks of Michael.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXVII

SALLY was trying on her wedding dress.

"Oh-oo—" said Annabel Mat-
thias, coming in from a late
breakfast, her negligee wrapped
tightly around her. "I've heard
it's bad luck to try it all on together, Sally. Don't you think?"

"Nonsense," cried Sally, turning on one heel and pirouetting
with a satisfied backward glance
at the image reflected in the long
mirror set in the bathroom door.

"How could it be bad luck now,
with the wedding tomorrow and
the rehearsal tonight? By the way, has Joe gone to the golf club? Because I want to have an early dinner. We're going over to the church at 8 o'clock.
Daddy is being so silly about it
all. He still wants us to keep it
a secret, although his darned old wedding was yesterday and he got
it as usual."

Annabel, mystified at this involvement, promptly said so, and Sally had to explain, with some impatience.

"He didn't want anyone to know about the wedding before-
hand, so the local storekeepers
wouldn't get down on him. You see, I bought all my things in the city—naturally. And so the invitations all go out by hand this morning."

"I see," said Annabel who didn't at all and who thought the whole thing sounded "crazy if you ask me." She was to confide
this information later to her stal-
wart Joseph, who would agree
half-heartedly.

Annabel was a big, rosy girl of 24 with blond hair which she coiled neatly at the nape of her rather short neck. She had bright, small eyes and a hearty laugh. Sally hated her rather cordially and loathed the idea of having her cousin as bridesmaid.
Of course Annabel would be a
fool for her own petite brunet
looks. That was one consolation.

"It's very pretty," said Annabel
presently of the silver and white
dress with its demurely cut neck
and flowing sleeves. "But don't you think it's just a bit tight?"

Sally, who insisted on having all
her frocks fitted so that the
"meat-and-potatoes-into-it" look
would be definitely stressed,
frowned.

"Not at all," she said. Annabel,
raving and accepting the hint
trilled her negligee out of the door
and said she guessed she'd go and
do her nails.

SALLY lingered, hating to take off the frock. She had designed

it herself. She was intoxicated
with her own appearance. A pity
she couldn't call up some of the photographers of the big city
papers, so that they could print her
picture in the rotogravure sections
later. She might take a chance and call them just before dinner.
Her father surely couldn't expect
to keep an important event like this wedding a secret forever. He was just being stuffy about it!

She tried a number of expressions in the glass. Perhaps demureness would be best of all. She smiled at herself, drawing her red
lips carefully back from her teeth
as movie stars did. The effect,
she thought, was enchanting.

She called to Frieda, the house-
maid, to help her out of the wedding dress. And had Frieda telephoned to Isabel at the beauty shop
to come and do her hair at four?
Well, that was all right then.

The plump German girl giggled
over the fastenings. Ja, it was a pretty dress all right.

Sally frowned over the clumsy
fingers, fumbling at the snappers
and hooks. When she was Lady Carden she would have a French maid to go in and out with piles of frilled underthings, to answer the telephone, to say, "Yea, Madame"
and, "No, Madame," with just the proper note of adoration.

Sally hadn't the faintest notion
what Michael's inheritance
amounted to but she thought of it always "in the neighborhood of a million." She couldn't possibly have told where she got the idea.
But Sally was purposely vague in some matters. Where other things
were concerned, such as the important things as the cut of a frock
or the turn of a coquettish hat brim,
she was exceedingly definite. She knew what she wanted.

Everything seemed to go wrong
this morning. She was putting on a brand new pair of silk stockings
—sheer ones with the finest and
most delicate of cloths—when she started a great run in one of them.
Then she broke a fingernail and,
just before a manicure, that was
without a doubt the most madden-
ing happening in all the world.
Tears of rage stood in her eyes at
the sight.

THE caterers from 57th street
called to say they couldn't get the little cakes she ordered. They were making different ones now.
Just as good. But Sally had wanted
the ones with the roses on them.
She was furious.

Then when she picked up an afternoon newspaper she saw that rain was prophesied for the morrow. She hung the sheet from her
in disgust. Rain for her beautiful wedding dress and those utterly exquisite white and silver slippers!
She just wouldn't have it, that was all! Isabel, coming in with her kit of tools, found her in a vile humor. Isabel knew that something important and exciting was about but she hadn't yet heard the news of the impending marriage.

"Big party on tonight?" Isabel rejoiced in a treasury of village
gossip and couldn't quite understand being kept in the dark.

"Yes—no—never mind."

Isabel felt quite buffy. Who did Miss Sally Moon think she was anyway? Getting the big head, was she? Isabel strongly disapproved.
Everybody had done a lot of talking about Sally's engagement to Michael Heathcote. Isabel polishing and snipping, applying dye

with the tips of rubber gloved
fingers, soaping and rinsing and
setting ridged waves, had heard all of it. She had even "stood up" for Sally because she was a customer
and you ought to be loyal to your own customers.

Isabel set her lips tightly
and packed up her kit and went away,
silent and disapproving. She had never liked Miss Sally Moon anyway, she reminded herself. Catch Isabel "putting herself out" for Sally Moon again!

Maids came and went with packages and messages in the big, ugly
house on the wide street. Some of the people who knew the Moons
rather well called up when their invitations were delivered. They exclaimed that Sally had stolen a march on them—wasn't she a little rascal?—things like that. Sally began to feel better about it all.
The spot on her chin that had
bothered her in the morning
yielded to the frequent applications
of an astringent; her hair looked well. She went down to dinner in good humor.

MICHAEL was there. Silent as he was always these days, but beautifully polite and gentle. Annabel was impressed by him and said so.

They were to go over to the church in an hour. Sally drank a good deal of the white wine—she loved it—and her laughter grew
louder and rarer as the meal progressed. Michael looked at her once or twice in a vaguely puzzled
way and Annabel, who put her hand over her glass whenever Frieda came around, was openly round-eyed.

Sally didn't care. Annabel was a terrible washout. She wouldn't dare to criticize her after this Marriage gave you a certain standing. You could do as you pleased once you had the title "Mrs." before your name. That was one of the reasons she had persisted about Michael, even before he had come
into his inheritance.

"Come on, everybody," she called
rather shrilly. "Got to get this rehearsal business over."

They all piled into her car and
she drove somewhat recklessly the half dozen blocks to the little red
brick church on the side street.
Dr. Willets, the minister, had arranged to have the side gate left open for them, and they trooped in without attracting too much attention, although one or two idlers stopped to gaze after them. Sally was very gay. She felt exhilarated.

The plain, dark little church
with the wooden benches and dark
pulpit rather dashed her spirits,
but only for an instant. Mr. Moon
appeared from nowhere and Anna-
bel, as proxy, went up the aisle on his arm. Sally didn't like this.
Tradition or no tradition it seemed
plain silly to have her fat cousin
meeting Michael and Joseph at the vestry, quite as though she were
the star of this particular occasion.

Annabel, blushing and bridling
at her Joseph, murmured coily: "I Sally, take thee."

"She's not supposed to say that,"
said Sally quite angrily. But no one paid any attention to her. They were all staring at Michael who had gone dead white and looked
as if he were about to faint.

Before anyone spoke he glanced
wildly around and rushed out of the church.

"Stop him," cried Sally wildly.
"Oh, stop him!"
